

A Summary of the November meeting of Woolastook Presbytery—for Bulletins

The fall meeting of the Woolastook Presbytery was held at St. Paul's United Church in Fredericton. There was a good attendance.

Visitors and guests were welcomed by both the chair of Presbytery, Rev. Meredith Fraser and Rev. Paul Ross of St. Paul's United Church.

Special guests for the meeting were George Doughart and Kevin Bourque. Mr. Doughart, special representative from the Stewardship committee of Conference had met with the Presbytery Stewardship committee and then addressed the Court. He told of his work, encouraging congregations throughout the Conference to celebrate stewardship with their givings and work. Woolastook Presbytery maintains its position in Conference with its generous givings.

Kevin Bourque is the new Chaplain on the UNB Campus. Kevin's work is supported by Presbytery, congregations and individuals throughout the Presbytery. Kevin spoke about his meetings with students, staff and other religious bodies on the Campus. He is very enthusiastic about his work and is willing to speak to congregations about the campus.

The chair gave a brief summary of the meeting of Conference executive. It is to be noted that proposals to Conference should be into the Conference office by April 1st, which means by the February meeting to the Presbytery.

Committee reports were presented. Barb Kelly, Stewardship, is interested in knowing whether a congregation has taken on the Peace Project. If so, would they please let her know.

Ministry, Personnel and Education, Nancy Ritchie, noted that the committee had interviewed Elizabeth Savoie and affirmed her as a lay supply.

Church in Action, Norman Laverty, have requested time at the April meeting for a workshop.

Heritage and Resources, David Thorne, noted that the Archives of St. Andrews United Church in Harvey had been examined and were in order.

Approval was given to an extension of the purchase agreement for the sale of the St. Paul's United Church in Edmundston.

The budget was presented by Roselyn Green, treasurer, and included an increase for the Camp. Congregations will be notified shortly of the allocations for the coming year.

Pastoral Care reminded congregations that Annual Reports are due by February 15th or by the February meeting of Presbytery. Two copies are to be given to the secretary.

Pastoral Relations noted the Covenanting Services that had been held for Rev. Nancy Ritchie, Marysville, Rev. Keith Adams, Centreville, and Rev. Kelly Burke, New Maryland Pastoral Charges. Helena Medeiros, Student Intern, Doaktown Pastoral Charge has been given permission to administer the Sacraments. And JNAC's have been approved for Faith Memorial, Florenceville Pastoral Charge and the Plaster Rock, Grand Falls, Riley Brook Pastoral Charge.

A closing worship was conducted by members of St. Paul's United Church

The next meeting of Presbytery will be held on February 26th, 2009 at Gibson Memorial United Church in Fredericton.
